DHS Alumni News

A Dexter High School Alumni Association Publication

Welcome

While this newsletter is typically all about our Alumni, the Alumni Association and our annual banquet, there is something special happening in Dexter this June. The Dexter Area Historical Society is organizing a sesquicentennial commemoration of the Civil War. This event, Civil War Days at Gordon Hall will take place Friday – Sunday, June 10th – 12th. This is why we have chosen to forgo our Alumni Night in the Park this year. We encourage Alumni to enjoy the free Friday evening, 1860's period concert on the front lawn of the Gordon Hall property. There are many activities planned for Saturday and Sunday. So, come to Dexter for an entertaining and educational experience by stepping back in history, and please join us for our banquet on Saturday at 4:00pm (doors open at 3:00pm).

Association History

The DHS Alumni Association was created in May 1905. It was decided that a banquet be given the Saturday evening succeeding Commencement. The first DHS Alumni Association banquet was held on Saturday evening, June 10, 1905 at the Dexter Opera House.

Directory Project Update

The Alumni Directory project, which we have been talking about for the past few years, is on indefinite hold. The Association's Board of Directors discussed the project at a recent meeting and reached the following conclusions.

1. At this time, we do not have a high enough percentage of valid contact information for our Alumni to make a directory worthwhile.
2. It is not evident that Alumni have embraced this project.
3. The Association will continue to work to improve the quality of its contact information for the purpose of providing greater assistance to our Classes and improving communications with our Alumni.

Missed the 2010 Banquet?

Then you missed the great food prepared by the Lighthouse Catering and these delicious cakes prepared by Diane Smith Vince, '92.

2011 Honored Classes

This year we will be recognizing the Honored Classes of 1951, 1961, 1971, 1981 and 1986. If you have anything special about your class that you wish to have acknowledged at the banquet, please contact your class spokesperson.

At the time of publication, we have not received notification of the spokespersons for the classes, except for 1961 – Cliff Blossom.

DHS History and Memorabilia Preservation

The foundation of our organization is its history and the memories of our Alumni. The annual yearbooks are a vital part of that history. However, that history is also about photographs, letters, news clippings, jackets, uniforms, certificates, diplomas, newsletters, movies, pennants, announcements and anything else related to our time at Dexter High School. In addition, the documentation of personal recollections of DHS memories is invaluable. If you wish to donate or are willing to loan memorabilia to the Association please contact us via mail or email at memories@dexteralumni.org.

Thank you to those Alumni who have previously sent photos, old school newspapers, Dexter Leaders and even a few yearbooks. Your support of our efforts to preserve DHS history is greatly appreciated.

The Association has established a DHS Memorabilia Preservation Committee. This Committee will be charged with (1) developing guidelines for the donation or loan of memorabilia to the Association; and (2) developing a plan for the preservation, storage and display of any memorabilia donated to the Association. Now we need Alumni interested in serving on this Committee. Please contact us via mail or email at memories@dexteralumni.org.

President’s Letter

Dear Alumni,

Some things in life seem relatively simple. For instance, dirt. We walk on dirt. We drive on dirt. We may work on or in dirt. It is all around us. When we think of dirt we may think of it in many different ways. What images come to mind for you? Is it the dirt on the floor left from your children’s shoes after they played outside? Is it the farmer plowing his fields when you drove by his farm this morning? Is it the muddy area around your new house that will someday be a yard? Is it mile after mile of desert land that stretches to the horizon? Looking at dirt in another light, why is it some dirt supports vegetation while other dirt is barren? To support vegetation growth, dirt has to have nourishment available. This nourishment may exist naturally or may need to be added by people.

So, why the discussion about dirt? Well, organizations are similar. They may seem simple just in passing, but do you see the nourishment that they need to support their existence? Think of an organization...say, the Red Cross. They collect blood and provide assistance when a disaster strikes. Simple, right? However, anyone who has benefited by or volunteered for the Red Cross knows that the organization is much more than that. At its core are the people who donate blood, money, and time that nourishes the organization and allows it to achieve its purpose.

When you think about the Alumni Association, what is the image you see? What do you know about why it exists or how the organization functions? Do you know how you can help nourish the Association? Our Alumni make our organization what it is, and their participation is key to its future.

There are many ways our Alumni can help:

- Communication – keeping your contact information up-to-date; urging other Alumni and your Class to do the same
- Volunteer – we have a need for members of various Committees (short and long term) and Class Representatives; we always have a need for Banquet volunteers (setup; greeters; displays); and the Board of Directors
- Memorabilia – contributions help us know and appreciate the history of Dexter High School and our organization
- Donations – paying dues keeps us functioning; donations keep our scholarship program alive; memorials help with scholarships
- Estate planning – ensuring our existence

Sincerely,

We have been busy borrowing and collecting donated yearbooks to get ready for a project creating a digital archive of these key pieces of DHS history. As part of our memorabilia collection donated yearbooks will be retained as a physical archive after digital copies are created. Below is the list of yearbooks that we currently have available for our project. Some of these are donated, some are on loan to us, some belong to the Association and some we are checking their status. Privacy of Alumni Data

The two primary purposes for our maintaining contact data for Alumni are (1) to inform Alumni about news, projects and events of the Alumni Association and (2) to be a resource for classes at the time they are planning a reunion.

The Alumni Association works hard to maintain the privacy of its Alumni. While we understand and share concerns for privacy, we believe that the Association's standards for privacy outlined below should alleviate any concerns of our Alumni.

PRIVACY STANDARDS

Contact information for members of a specific class may be shared with an official Class Reunion Committee or designated Class Representatives. The contact information collected by the DHS Alumni Association is not shared with individuals or organizations.

HELP WANTED

DHS Class Representatives Needed

The strength of our organization lies in our ability to communicate with Dexter Alumni and to encourage their active membership in the Association. To improve in both of these areas, we need to designate two or three representatives from each class. We will provide these representatives an Association email address to use in communication with their classmates and they will have access to their class information from our database. These representatives along with two Association Board members will comprise the new Alumni Association Membership Committee.

Class Representatives may be appointed by their classmates, may be current members of class reunion committees, or may be people who have been identified as good contacts for their classes. Representatives will be the liaisons between their classes and the Alumni Association, helping to keep contact information up-to-date and coordinating class and Association activities. In addition, they will be involved in working with their class reunion committees and providing information for the Association's website about their class.

If you have an interest in being a class representative please email us at dhsaa@dexteralumni.org with the Subject: <classyear> CLASS REP (i.e. 1966 CLASS REP). Representatives will be contacted in the next few months to discuss details.

Why Choose to be an Active Association Member

Active membership in the Association means:

- You support our efforts to communicate with our Alumni (newsletter, web site, Facebook, email, mail).
- You support our efforts to provide functions like the Alumni Banquet and the Alumni Night in the Park.
- You feel it is important that we maintain a database of contact information to assist classes in planning their reunions.
- You value our ability to raise money through Alumni donations to provide scholarships to DHS Seniors to support further education.

Active membership means paying your Association dues each year.

Additional ways to support the Association may include:

- You see the importance of preserving our DHS history by contributing (donation/loan) memorabilia and your recollections of your high school years.
- You see why our Alumni Association is special and are willing to contribute time and effort to serve on its various committees or its Board of Directors.
- You look to the future of the Association when doing your estate planning and consider a monetary contribution and/or a memorabilia donation.

*Dexter will be true to you
All of the time
And to her colors too

Victory in sight
We'll vanquish every foe
Come on you Dreadnaughts fight
With all your might

“My Dexter Memories”

A Visit with Dorothy Gainsley Bates, Class of 1947

Interview by Donna Gendron Fisher, '65

We met at Foggy Bottom, however, there is nothing foggy about the memory of Class of 1947 graduate Dorothy Gainsley Bates. For her graduation ceremony she chose a pink dress and her family hosted friends for cake and coffee.

Dorothy's school career began with her 1st through 4th grades being spent at St. Thomas School in Ann Arbor. St. Joseph's School in Dexter offered grades 5 through 8, and Dorothy transferred to Dexter to finish those elementary grades. As a freshman, she transferred to Dexter Union Schools. There were three girls in her class who made the transfer from St. Joe's with her: Alice Heatley, Mary Catherine Long and Patricia O'Malley.

She can remember being very frightened at the thought of making that transition, imagining what seemed like hundreds of kids and all of them seeming a whole lot older than she. However, she cannot remember that actual transfer being difficult, perhaps due to her having her older sister Maggie who was a junior already in attendance at Copeland.

Dorothy's parents and their seven children lived at the bottom of Ann Arbor Street, in a large white house. “A grand old home with very special wood work” as she described it. Dorothy had four brothers, Robert, Ron, Jim, and Paul and two sisters, Maggie and Sharon. Up the street, Copeland school rang a warning bell at 8:50 AM and again at 9:00 AM. If Dorothy began running as the second bell was tolled, she could just slip into class without being tardy.

School fashion of the day dictated that girls wore skirts and blouses or sweaters and boys wore slacks, not jeans. Once each year, in the spring toward the end of the school year, the girls were allowed to wear slacks or jeans for just one day. Away from school, girls wore jeans that were very long-legged, and rolled into wide cuffs to mid-calf length, accompanied by black and white saddle shoes; shoes that went with everything in one's wardrobe.

When I asked Dorothy how she felt about her Dexter High School career, she quickly replied, “I was always happy.” She enjoyed its “small size, and slower pace”. She explained that the only car driven by a student was that of John Rowe. He was a football player and a tuba player who had no case for his tuba thus, he laid his instrument on the backseat of his car, which he parked in front of Copeland at the second gym entrance. As he had the only car at DHS, the football players would jump into his car to hitch a ride with him and his tuba whenever they could. Dorothy smiled as she reminisced about how crazy they looked and how that tuba was battered and beaten by the team.

DHS students were very patriotic and began each day with “The Pledge of Allegiance”. Her English teacher, Ms. Ora Clark, and her Social Studies Teacher, Margaret Bucy were her favorites. She did not like math. Some of the vocational training classes Dort completed were typing and shorthand. She also completed chemistry.

She remembers her Home Economics classes well. The room was located just inside the first front entry door of Copeland, around the corner to the right. There she learned to sew, and is “glad I did” and to preserve beans and carrots. The school stored the canned goods in the tunnels below the school. (This is also where boys would sneak to have a secret cigarette.) And speaking of sneaking, Dorothy skipped Home Ec. one day with Nancy Utsler Aiken and yes, they were caught and punished!

Kids “hung out at Joe's” (Joe LaRosa's Confectionery). A fountain cherry Coke was the beverage of the day and cost 5-cents a piece. Due to War time rationing, at times Joe's had no candy or gum, and rarely ice cream, to sell. The substitute was orange sherbet that they dressed with chocolate syrup. Both Dorothy and I think that is a nice combination but she and her friends did not think that back then.

Dexter had respectable sports teams with Pinckney being the greatest football rival of the time. The greatness of the football team of 1946 and its championship lives on today. Games were played just out of town, under the viaduct, up the slight rise in the road and through the gate to the left on the fields maintained by the students themselves. Basketball games were played in the Copeland gym. Before consolidating and becoming Dexter Agricultural Schools, the district had only one bus and it carried the team to away games. Parents had to take students and cheerleaders to away events.

Dorothy remembers the cheerleading squad being comprised of upperclassmen, with sisters Ann and Mary Livermore being members of this team. When Mary no longer wanted to cheer, she went to Dorothy's house, asking two questions: 1) did Dorothy want to cheer and 2) could she fit into the maroon jumper uniform. Dorothy did want to cheer, and while the uniform was too long and needed to be hemmed, it really did fit and Dorothy joined the Dreadnaught cheerleaders, cheering for the Dreadnaughts all four years of high school.

High school classes held fundraisers to fund their class treasury savings for a Senior boat trip. The boat left from Detroit and sailed to Mackinaw Island for overnights. Other schools' senior classes booked the same boat and Dorothy recalled the fun in meeting kids from other communities.

The "Penny Carnival" was advertised with wooden discs with a yarn string, stamped with a 1-cent sign. This student run event included a "fish pond", "mock weddings" using chicken leg rings, a lively "cake walk" and many other activities. Another fundraiser was the sale of pencils, paper and notebooks from the little closet that adjoined the chemistry room, upstairs in the Copeland building. Classes got a real deal on donuts from the Dexter Bakery and sold them at lunch time for profit at 5-cents a piece.

Socials included proms and a Snow Ball, decorated with a student constructed snowman, made of cotton batting, gracing the center of the gym. Girls prom and party formals were floor length with sleeves to keep the girls well covered and the boys wore suit coats.

When I asked Dorothy if there were events of high impact that took place in Dexter while she was in High School, she related a scenario where there was a big roll of Veteran's of War posted in Monument Park. It included Jack Thompson, a Dexter man, taken prisoner during the war.

Dorothy feels she was well prepared with skills for life after high school. She secured a job at Argus Camera, where she worked until she took a job in the Washtenaw County Clerk's office. She then took time to raise her family. When her boys were grown she worked for a time for a local physician, Dr. Kemp, and later moved on to work for 11 years for Dexter Schools with Richard Knapp in the finance department. She then became part of Dexter Real Estate, located at the corner of Broad and Main Streets.

Miss Gainsley married a local man, Harry Bates, in 1948. She met him one night when she went to Joe's to meet Estelle Dettling Steinaway. Harry and Stell were friends and Stell introduced Dorothy to the handsome young man in the Air Force uniform, her future husband. They have been united for 63 years and together raised three sons. Hobart, born in 1952, attended Air Force Academy and is a pilot for Spirit Airlines. Gary, born in 1954, attended Eastern Michigan and is a principal in an elementary school in Port Huron, Michigan. Eric, born in 1958, went to Ironwood for Skiing management and is a mountain manager for the Heavenly Ski Area. All are DHS grads. Dorothy is glad DHS left them "happy and well prepared for their college and career challenges."

Dorothy is a real community servant and I asked her where her service trait came from. She is especially well known as "the box office for the Dexter Community Players". She explained that she was active and social while at DHS. She went on to become active in her Church Altar Society, assisted with her sons' school events, helped with the organization of the Village of Dexter Sesquicentennial Celebration, and began work with the Community Players. She told me, "there is always a cause, someone always needs help and I was always willing."

Thank you Mrs. Bates for a most enjoyable morning chat over coffee. Thank you DHS for your positive influence on a most valued community steward, Dorothy Gainsley Bates.

Do you have DHS memories or stories to share with us?

A few years ago we began including "My Dexter Memories" in the newsletter as part of documenting the history of DHS. We want to collect these memories and stories as part of our History and Memorabilia Collection. As we collect these we will be looking for ways to share them with our Alumni. If you wish to contribute to our history records please contact us via mail or email at memories@dexteralumni.org.

Alumni Hall of Fame Update

In 2007, a moratorium on new inductees was put in place with the purpose of conducting a review of the Hall of Fame selection process. In 2010, the Association's Board of Directors completed the review of our selection process and those used by many other alumni organizations. The Board adopted a set of By-Laws specific to the operation of the Hall of Fame. These Hall of Fame By-Laws establish the guidelines for nomination of candidates, the creation of a Selection Committee, the review of nominations and recommendations by the Committee, and the induction of selected Alumni.

Alumni Donations – In order for us to be able to provide scholarships to graduating seniors we depend on your contributions. Without your support this annual event cannot be maintained. We try to provide 3-4 scholarships each year. Please consider a donation to the Scholarship Fund so that we can continue this time honored tradition. All donations are tax deductible. Thank you to all Alumni whose contributions support our new DHS graduates.
